AccessLex Institute

Thank you for your interest in AccessLex Institute grant programs. You are beginning an application for the Diversity Pipeline Intervention Grant Program. Before submitting an application for consideration, please read carefully the grant program's frequently asked questions (FAQs) here.

Scope of Grant

The Diversity Pipeline Intervention Grant Program provides funding to programs and initiatives aimed at helping college students and/or college graduates from historically underrepresented groups successfully matriculate into law school and the legal profession.

The central goal of the Diversity Pipeline Intervention Grant Program is to increase the knowledge base around effective methods for increasing the enrollment and success of law students from historically underrepresented racial and socioeconomic backgrounds. Accordingly, we seek to fund collaborative programs that provide participants with meaningful content and experiences as well as holistic support.

To be fundable, programs must:

- Have a duration of 12-24 months and seek funding in the amount of $200,000-$300,000
- Focus on college students and/or college graduates from underrepresented racial, ethnic, or socioeconomic backgrounds
- Include clear statements of program goals and tangible and measurable objectives
  - Must be premised on preparing participants for the law school admission process and/or law school
  - Program components must be aligned with goals and objectives
- Include an evaluation plan
  - Must be tied directly to goals, objectives, and desired outcomes
  - Must be designed using valid data collection and analytical techniques

- Must include methods for tracking participants up to some endpoint that transcends the program itself (e.g., end of the admission cycle)
- Must include methods for documenting relevant outcomes (e.g., participant law school admission outcomes)

Programs that also encompass the following optional elements will be given preference in the selection process:

- Focus on participants who are seeking to begin law school within two (2) years of the start of the desired grant period and have not yet received an admission offer
- Focus on participants with low standardized test scores and/or grades
- Differential treatment of participants (treatment/control group methodology) for purposes of program evaluation
- Relevant long-term support for participants
- Collaboration with other institutions, organizations, etc.

Scope of Grant Application

The grant application form is designed to elicit detailed information about your project and your proposal. The information should build and expand on the entries placed on the LOI form. Character limits have been increased to allow for such expansion. Responses, however, should be only as long as necessary. Do not feel compelled to exhaust the character limits.

The information provided should focus on components of the program for which grant funds are being sought, though contextual information about other components should be provided to the extent necessary and possible.

All fields on this form require a response. If a prompt is not applicable to your project, mark "N/A". Given the competitive nature of the process, not every grant applicant will be awarded funding. Proposals featuring all the required elements above and at least some of the optional elements are most likely to be awarded funding.

To view and print the full list of questions in the Full Proposal application, click the "Question List" button above. If you have questions about this grant application process, please direct them to grants@accesslex.org with the phrase, "Question – Full Proposal," in the subject line.

To ensure that you receive emails sent from Foundant, our grant interface program, please add administrator@grantinterface.com to your email safe senders list, address book or contacts. Please note, all questions should be directed to grants@accesslex.org.
